

Flexible Tariff Varied Cases in Provision Evenly Divides Senate

Single Vote, Tomorrow or Wednesday, May Decide Whether President Hoover Will Be Upheld.

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP).—The Senate entered the fourth week of debate today with its first major controversy on the verge of decision.

The issue, whether the president's power to raise or lower tariff rates on recommendation of the tariff commission shall be continued or withdrawn, probably will reach a vote tomorrow or Wednesday.

On the one side, in favor of continuance, are ranged President Hoover and the Republican regulars of the Senate. On the other are most of the Democrats and Republican independents.

Leaders of both sides, after a week-end of vigorous efforts to bolster the voting strength of their respective positions, professed confidence in the outcome. They conceded, however, that a single vote might decide the issue.

The opinion was expressed in both camps that withdrawal of the flexible tariff power from the president would be regarded generally as a blow both to Mr. Hoover in view of his declaration favoring the principle, and to the pending bill itself, because of the principle that principle enters so profoundly into its entire structure.

Evidence of a closer knitting of Democratic and Republican independent opposition to the flexible provisions was given today in the text of the reply issued by Democratic members of the finance committee to President Hoover's argument in favor of the flexible policy which was established seven years ago in the Fordney-McCumber act.

Attacking the principle as "un-American," the statement indicated acceptance of a proposal by Senator Norris, Republican independent of Nebraska, as an amendment to one proposed by Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking Democrat of the finance committee.

The Simmons amendment would change the bill to provide that the president, upon receipt of a recommendation from the tariff commission, should merely transmit it to Congress, reserving to the legislative branch exclusive power to make the alterations proposed. The Norris amendment is designed to prevent frequent reopening of all schedules in consideration of such recommendations on a particular rate.

"We emphatically insist," the Democratic statement said, "that national action and responsibility based upon tariff commission reports shall be taken by the Congress. For the purpose of preventing apprehended congressional delay, an amendment has been made providing for the submission of the reports to the Congress by the president and, furthermore, an amendment will be presented strictly limiting action by Congress to matters germane to the particular subject matter or rates recommended by the president after investigation by the tariff commission."

THIRD DAUGHTER BORN TO EMPEROR OF JAPAN

Tokyo, Sept. 30 (AP).—Sharp dual blasts on factory sirens throughout Japan today told the island empire a queen for the third time was a mother, but that its hopes for a male heir to the throne had been disappointed.

The event occasioned general rejoicing, but keen disappointment was everywhere manifest that the child was a daughter and not a son. There were religious services at three palace shrines.

The babe, who will be named on October 6, weighed 7 1/2 pounds. Her emperor father presented her with a short sword and a bow, which will be kept close by her throughout her lifetime as a symbolic protection against evil. She also was given a small ceremonial purple skirt.

The little princess is the third daughter to come to the imperial household. Princess Shiegeko was born December 6, 1925. Another daughter born about two years later died in 1928.

Only males can occupy the throne of "thee" unbroken through ages eternal," so therefore Prince Chichibu, who recently married Setsuko Matsudaira, daughter of the former ambassador to Washington, still is the heir of his brother, the emperor.

Hawaii Awak Volcanic Eruption

Hilo, Hawaii, Sept. 30 (AP).—Hawaii experienced more than 200 earthquakes in a week, the populace of the western part of the island of Hawaii today awaited with some apprehension the coming of more tremors and the eruption of its volcano, as predicted by Dr. Thomas A. Jaggar, volcanologist.

Mr. Jaggar has predicted that at least one and possibly all the principal volcanic mountains of western Hawaii will erupt. These are Mauna Loa, Kilauea and Hualalai. The latter has been dormant since 1901.

Aggravated Assault

Albany, Sept. 29 (AP).—A negro, John M. Johnson, who 100 years ago served General Joaquín Alvarez, was arrested yesterday at an age of 112 years. He was sent to Cuba as a slave.

Police Court

Several cases were brought to the attention of Judge Shufeldt in police court today. Harry Byrd, a negro of East Kingston, was fined $5 for parking his car in the restricted area on West Strand. Alexander Klemm of Woodstock was fined $5 for parking his car more than six inches from the curb on Wall street on Saturday.

John Welch of Abel street, who said he was 70 years old, was fined $5 for public intoxication, and later the payment of the fine was suspended.

Dominick Pidoone of New York city, arrested for driving to the left of a traffic standard and also for not having the necessary license papers to drive with him, had his hearing adjourned to Tuesday.

Jack Leahy of Sawkill was fined $5 for public intoxication.

John Pulickene of Stonerock, forfeited $5 bail for failure to appear in answer to a charge of public intoxication.

Joseph Basco of Cedar street, who drove to the left of a traffic standard, forfeited $5 by failure to appear in court today.

Waives Rights For Mrs. Gann

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP).—Vice-President Curtis has waived the rights of precedence for his sister and official hostess, Mrs. Dolly Curtis Gann, at the state dinner to be held at the White House in honor of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald.

Secretary Stimson in announcing this today said the vice-president had graciously waived his sister's precedence in favor of Lady Isabella Howard, the wife of the British ambassador, who will be the ranking British lady at the dinner.

Simultaneously Stimson disclosed that Prime Minister MacDonald had asked that his daughter, Isabel, who is accompanying him on the trip to visit President Hoover, not be regarded officially at ceremonial functions held while he is in the United States.

Stimson said he assumed that the arrangement, which he described as "not permanent," would place Mrs. Gann in the position next to Lady Isabella.

The state department head described the vice-president's action as especially gracious and appropriate in view of the fact that Sir Esme Howard together with the diplomatic corps last April had made a provisional arrangement whereby Mrs. Gann at official and ceremonial functions would be accorded the position in precedence which is normally given a wife of the vice-president.

The action of the vice-president will dispose of the troublesome question of precedence which arose when Mrs. Gann decided she would return to Washington from her home in Topeka, Kansas, in time for the premier's visit to the capitol.

Since she will be in Washington at the time of the ceremonies, she would have been accorded a position superior to Lady Isabella. No question of her seating at the dinner to be given at the British Embassy will arise, however, since Stimson has been invited as the ranking guest, the embassy having always made it a point never to invite anyone who would outrank the secretary of state while he was a guest at an embassy dinner.

The question of Mrs. Gann's seating at the dinner which Stimson will give to the prime minister also will be avoided since it will be an informal "stag" affair.

Kiwanis Kapers Great Success

The Kiwanis Kapers, edition of 1929, concluded Saturday, after playing two nights and setting the highest standard yet achieved in any local talent production. Both nights, the Broadway Theatre was filled and a splendid program was presented. The Kiwanis Club has set a mark that will be hard to surpass in the future.

The program was sponsored by the service club to obtain money for the dental clinic, a project of the club's. The members of the cast acted their parts to perfection in settings that were the best Kingstons have ever seen in home talent productions.

Due to good organization and a real show, the Kiwanis Club will be able to carry on its program of welfare among the underprivileged children, and ventures of a similar nature, and members of the club extend their thanks to the public for so heartily supporting their efforts.

Ford Upset, Child Injured

Skidding on the wet pavement of Delaware avenue, at Hasbrouck avenue, late Sunday afternoon, a Ford sedan driven by Charles Perigot of East Kingston, turned over. Mr. Perigot's son, Frank, 2 1/2 years old, was the only one in the car injured. The baby received a scratched face and was somewhat bruised. The Ford was also somewhat damaged in the upset.

Hurricane Now Threatens Gulf Coast Territory

The West Indian hurricane, with estimates of its intensity lowered by revised reports of damage to the Bahamas, whirled northwestward across the Gulf of Mexico today and caused moderate gale winds to be felt as far inland as Tallahassee, Florida's capital city.

The Washington weather bureau placed the storm at 8 a. m. about 75 miles southeast of Pensacola and warned that indications were the disturbance would cross the coast line near that city this afternoon attended by winds of hurricane force.

Storm warnings were changed to hurricane warnings along the Alabama and Mississippi coasts.

A wind which attained a maximum velocity of 50 miles an hour was reported at Pensacola at 8 a. m. today, but the absence of telephone or telegraph communications prevented the transmission of news regarding conditions at Apalachicola, fixed as the eastern terminus of the hurricane's advance in the weather bureau's advisory of yesterday. Gale winds, however, were reported at Apalachicola as early as midnight.

The Miami Daily News announced the receipt of a wireless dispatch from Nassau, capital of the Bahamas, saying that property damage wrought by the high winds of last week which were experienced over a 48-hour period was not as severe as was first thought.

News of the safe arrival in Nassau of the motor vessel Isle of June, which had been unreported since leaving Miami a week ago, reduced the number of ships believed to be in distress to the Italian steamer Salina, aground off Manzanillo reef, and the Danish steamer Scandia, reported a total wreck off the Bahamas. At least one tug was going to the aid of the three members of the crew of thirty yet aboard the Domira, British freighter which foundered in the Bahamas.

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 30 (AP).—Barometric pressure here had dropped to 29.36 shortly before 9 a. m. today and the weather bureau reported that the velocity of the wind was 54 miles an hour and steadily increasing.

Martial Law In Borger, Texas

Borger, Texas, Sept. 30 (AP).—Brigadier General Jacob Wolters, heading a train load of state troops who arrived from Fort Worth, officially declared Borger under martial law at 9 a. m. today.

The governor had announced previously he would not release the proclamation suspending civil rule until troops who will supplant the civil authorities were in possession of the town.

Arrival of the troops was almost overshadowed by interest in the scheduled preliminary hearing of Mayor Glenn A. Pace on a charge, filed yesterday by Texas rangers, that he "caused" a state witness in one of Borger's two-score unsolved murder cases of the last two years to leave town.

The mayor's arrest was the first result, other than the movement of troops, of investigations by rangers and representatives of the governor, sent here to search for the assassin of District Attorney John A. Holmes, that they had evidence implicating city and county officers in a criminal conspiracy.

During the three years of the town's existence, martial law has been threatened several times. Its murders and other crimes have caused periodic raids by Texas rangers.

SAYS ONLY ONE MAN KNOWS THE WHOLE STORY

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP).—The announcement that he could tell the committee more "in thirty minutes than you can learn in thirty days" was made by William B. Shearer today almost as soon as he had taken the witness chair before a senate committee inquiring into his activities at the 1927 Geneva conference for naval limitations.

Shearer, who received $25,000 from three American shipbuilding corporations for representing them at the parley, immediately engaged in a verbal tilt with Chairman Shortridge over the procedure to be followed.

The witness asked consent to tell his own story in his own way at once but Shortridge said the committee would not divert from its regular course.

"This is my party," Shearer thundered.

"This is no one's party," Shortridge retorted.

"I can tell you more in thirty minutes than you can learn in 30 days," Shearer shot back. "Only one man knows this whole story."

Heart Tag Day Netted $405.24

The Heart Tag Day receipts when checked up Saturday night by Miss Frieda Hayes and Miss Ethel Salzman, who took charge of the Volunteers of America tag day here on Saturday last, totaled $405.24.

The children worked faithfully from early in the morning until the close, and those interested in the affair are deeply grateful to all who in any way helped to make the undertaking a success.

At the close of the contest it was found that uptown Patricia Whelan was entitled to the first prize, having secured $16.87 for her tags. The second prize was won by Marion Phinney, who had $16.33. The third winner was Mildred Hull, who had $15.86. The fourth and fifth by Helen Miller and Alma Cross. Downtown prizes were won by: First, Helen Barton, $12.98; second, Isabel Flynn, $10.52; third, Winifred Hornbeck, $9.27; fourth and fifth, Helen Noel and Gertrude Kolts. The other children were made happy with movie passes.

One Balloon Unaccounted For

St. Louis, Sept. 30 (AP).—With two foreign balloons unreported, two of the United States entries in the eighteenth annual Gordon Bennett international balloon classic were claimants as winner among those down, both landing in Ohio, showing only a few miles difference in air distances from St. Louis. They are Captain William E. Kepner, of the U. S. Army and Ward T. Van Orman, pilot of the Goodyear VII.

Captain Ernest De Myster in the Belgica and Lieutenant George Schenstrom in the Denmark were the pair unreported to St. Louis, although the Belgica was reported to have hit a tree near Paoli, Ind., at 2 p. m. Sunday, and to have tossed overboard the radio receiving set, some ballast and sailed on.

Third place also went to an American entry, unless one or both of the unreported bags beats the 315-mile distance of the U. S. Navy, Lieutenant T. G. W. Settle, pilot, with Lieutenant Winfield Bushnell, as aide. They landed ten miles southeast of Eaton, Ohio, after 22 hours in the air.

One accident marred the race. D. Eduardo Bradley, pilot of the Argentine balloon, suffering a crushed knee when his balloon landed in a tree near Fairbanks, Ind. He was taken to a Terre Haute, Ind. hospital, as was his aide, Lieutenant Francisco J. Cadaval, who was shocked and bruised.

FALL SAYS INDICTMENT IS DOUBLE JEOPARDY

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP).—Former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, who faces trial October 7 on the charge of receiving a bribe in connection with the Elk Hills, Cal., naval oil lease, will ask the District of Columbia supreme court to dismiss the indictment as one constituting double jeopardy.

Fall will appear personally before Justice William H. Taft on Wednesday to make the motion, his counsel, Frank J. Hogan, said today.

The indictment charges that Fall received a bribe of $100,000 from Edward L. Doherty for negotiating the Elk Hills lease to the wealthy oil man. Both Fall and Doherty were acquitted at their joint trial for conspiracy, which was based on the alleged $100,000 transaction between them.

Hogan said today the acquittal on the conspiracy charge should carry with it dismissal of the bribery indictment as "it would be a violation of his constitutional rights to be again subjected to trial for the same thing."

Professor Nicholson Near Death

Chicago, Sept. 30 (AP).—Professor A. A. Nicholson of the University of Chicago, genius of science, Nobel prize winner and the man who measured the speed of light, today lay near death. His physicians held only slight hope for the man whose 77 years made the dangers of pneumonia the more pronounced. A minor operation was performed three weeks ago, and Professor Nicholson was believed recovering until pneumonia developed.

Slayer Electrocuted

Bellefonte, Pa., Sept. 30.—William Weston, Jr., Philadelphia negro, was electrocuted at the Rockview Penitentiary today for the slaying of Mrs. Helen Coles, negro, on December 20, 1925. Mrs. Coles was beaten to death with an axe during a quarrel with Weston in which he accused her of being friendly with another man. It was his friendship with Mrs. Coles that caused a separation of Weston and his wife in 1925.

Speaks on Handwriting

Mrs. Isma Reynolds of the A. N. Palmer Company, exponents of writing, spoke to the students of Spencer's Business Institute, 239 Fair street, today on "Developing the Handwriting to Aid in Finding a Business Position." Mrs. Reynolds stressed the need of speed, but she said that speed must not be sacrificed to legibility. "A good hand is necessary to hold a secretarial position," she said.

Committee For Observance Of General Pulaski

The committee which has been appointed to arrange for the observance in this city of the 150th anniversary of the death of General Casimir Pulaski met Sunday afternoon in the armory. The committee consisted of the following: Mayor Dempsey, honorary chairman; the Hon. A. T. Clearwater, advisor to the committee; the Rev. Francis P. Borowski, Casimir Rudela, president; Walter W. Karol, vice president; Adam Dudyk, treasurer; Valentine J. Skop, secretary; Major O. R. Hiltbrant, commanding officer of 150th F. A., N. G. N. Y.; Morton Finch, commander, Kingston Post, American Legion; E. J. Wortman, vice commander; V. F. W.; Judge J. M. Fowler, commander, United Spanish War Veterans; Scout Executive Smith, of the Boy Scouts; Joy S. Roosa, of the Sons of Veterans; William S. Martin, representing the city fire department.

On October 13, there will be a nationwide observance of the anniversary of this great Polish soldier and American patriot, who was General Washington's right-hand man and who gave his life for American liberty during the trying days of the American Revolution.

The local committee voted Sunday to have a similar observance in this city on that date, which is on a Sunday. The exercises will consist of a parade which will start at the Polish Church on Delaware avenue at 2 p. m., and march to Academy Green, and thence to the Kingston High School, where speakers of great prominence, including Judge Clearwater, will make addresses.

Invitations will be extended to all patriotic, fraternal and civic bodies to join in the parade and exercises. Those wishing to join in this patriotic privilege are asked to communicate with Major Hiltbrant, who has been appointed grand marshal of the parade.

Mayor Dempsey asks all citizens of the city to join in these exercises of gratitude and reverence in the memory of General Pulaski, a foreigner who gave all his loyalty and devotion, his talents, his valor and his life for the cause of liberty and freedom of the United States.

No News from French Fliers

Paris, Sept. 30 (AP).—Anxiety was felt in some quarters today for Dieudonne Coste, French aviation ace, and his mechanic, Maurice Bellonte, who were missing more than three days after leaving Le Bourget in an attempt at a distance flight to the east.

The two aviators took off from Le Bourget in their plane, the Question Mark, soon after dawn Friday, and were last reported from Cologne, Germany. They were making 120 miles an hour then, heading for Siberia, with Vladivostok as their goal.

They hoped to reach Irkutsk, about 5,000 miles from Paris, before alighting, refueling and continuing to Vladivostok. Succeeding in this they would have bettered by several hundred miles the distance record held by the Italian aviators, Del Prete and Ferrarin, who covered 4,358 miles in a flight from Rome to Brazil last year.

The air ministry telegraphed Moscow for possible information of the fliers, but no answer has been received. It was pointed out that Siberian telegraph services are in the main suspended over Sunday and news of their landing at some out of the way station might thus be much delayed. In the event of landing in a more isolated place weeks even might elapse before word of a mishap reached Paris.

The two men had with them fuel for only 52 hours in the air, and this time was up at noon Sunday, French time.

SERVING FIVE DAYS IN COUNTY JAIL

James Belsky of New York was arrested Sunday on Complaint of Abram Besdesky of Accord who charged that Belsky, who was employed on the farm, was acting in a disorderly manner about the premises. Deputy Sheriff Mortimer H. Block of Accord was notified and arriving at the Besdesky farm found the defendant apparently intoxicated and using vile and indecent language. Belsky was placed under arrest by Deputy Sheriff Block and arraigned before Justice of the Peace Fred Simpson where the defendant entered a plea of guilty to the charge of being drunk and disorderly and a fine of $10 and 5 days in the county jail was imposed. The fine was paid and Belsky was brought to the county jail Sunday to serve the five-day sentence.

Charge "Tax Racket"

New York, Sept. 30 (AP).—F. H. La Guardia, Republican-Fusion candidate for mayor, accused Tammany Hall today of manipulating a "tax racket" by which a small group "with the right kind of connections" was relieved of paying $75,000,000 in taxes annually, the burden being shifted to small home owners and rent payers. He said that he would follow his charge with a "bill of particulars" containing fifty-nine specific charges and a folio of names and addresses "if the public wants them."

Expect to Reach $8,000 Tonight

It is expected that the fund for the Salvation Army, which was reported at the stadium on North Front street at 5 o'clock, will have been meeting with very gratifying results in canvassing the city and their enthusiasm and the generosity of donors are very much appreciated by the Salvation Army.

The money raised will be used for current expenses incurred by welfare work and to install a heating plant and shower baths at the stadium. A portion of this is used as a gym by youths of this city, who enjoy the athletic recreation afforded by the Salvationists. Clean, wholesome sports will be conducted on a larger scale with the aid of the campaign funds, $500 of which will be spent on the gym.

Last Friday night when the workers met, the report showed that they had but $2,600 to collect in order to reach the $8,000. All promised to do their best Saturday and Sunday, so the campaign heads are confident that the grand total will come in at tonight's meeting.

Speer Told About China Rebellion

Physical Director of University of Nanking, China, Gave Interesting Talk Sunday of 1927 Uprising in China—Spoke in Roundout Presbyterian Church.

James M. Speer, Jr., physical director of the University of Nanking, China, during the uprising there in 1927, gave an interesting address Sunday morning in the Roundout Presbyterian Church of his experiences during the fighting between the southern and northern armies. Mr. Speer owed his life to a loyal Chinese servant, and said that when he was surrounded by a group of Chinese soldiers who threatened to kill him unless he gave them $400 the servant ran for assistance and finally found an officer in the Chinese army who returned and dispersed the soldiers.

Mr. Speer related a number of incidents where the Chinese servants of the missionaries proved their loyalty to their masters by securing the money demanded by the soldiers if the lives of the white men were to be saved. In many cases it took the life savings of many of the servants but they gave what they had willingly.

Mr. Speer spent eight years as physical director in China and spoke in an interesting manner of the work being carried on by the various missionary groups in that country. China is a vast country and the means of communication between the various parts of the country are meager. He said that under the present regime China was progressing much faster than it had in the past.

Later in the Sunday school, Mr. Speer spoke to the scholars of his work as a physical director among the Chinese children, and of introducing a number of American games, such as football and tennis which met with much favor.

Mr. Speer said that what occurred in 1927 proved conclusively that the money that had been expended in China and the work of the missionaries had been worth while.

His address gave his hearers a vivid glimpse of the work that is being done in China by the Christian churches of the world.

National Legion Convention Opens

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 30 (AP).—The eleventh annual convention of the National American Legion was called to order at the Jefferson county armory here this morning by Commander Paul V. McNutt, of Indiana.

Approximately 50,000 Legionnaires, members of their families and visitors were assembled in Louisville as the convention opened and additional thousands continued to pour into the city during the day.

After a night of unrestrained merry-making, today opened gloomy and chilly and the delegates were somewhat tardy in arriving at the convention hall.

The armory presented a beautiful picture. A reproduction of an old fashioned Colonial mansion front porch, gigantic columns at the edge of a broad veranda, was the speakers' stand. Immediately in front of the sixty-foot porch were pits for the Post of Wichita, Kan., and the prize winning drum and bugle corps from Miami, Fla.

Everyone interested in the politics of the Republican party is invited to attend the meeting. An extremely interesting program has been arranged.

Albert Waterman Rescued from Mud Along Creek Bank

Three Men in Search of Ducks Discover Body of Aged Man Sinking in Mud Along the Banks of the Esopus Creek.

Sunday the local police were notified that Albert Waterman of 4 Van Deusen street had been missing from his home since Saturday and the officers on duty were notified to keep a watch for the missing man. Later Sunday three men from Kingston who were walking along the Esopus creek near Hurley in search of ducks found the unconscious form of a man buried in the mud of the Esopus creek in the rear of the Augustus Elmsdorf place. When discovered the man was unconscious and practically covered with the mud, only his arms and top of his head was exposed. After dragging the unconscious man from the mud the sheriff's office was notified and it was discovered that the man rescued from the creek was Mr. Waterman.

It was about 5:30 o'clock Sunday while George Hartman, Fred Bechtold and Thomas Conlon of this city were duck hunting that they discovered the helpless form in the creek. At first the men believed it was a large snapping turtle buried in the mud and one of them went to the spot and discovered it was a man being slowly engulfed in the clay ooze. At first it was believed that the man was dead but closer inspection showed that he was still breathing.

The combined efforts of the three men were required to release him from the mud and get him on the creek bank. Then the sheriff's office was notified and Deputy Sheriffs Smith and Stroble responded with Dr. Krom. At that time it was not known who the man was but after administering to the unconscious man Dr. Krom finally learned from the mumbings of the rescued man that his name was Waterman. He was taken to the Kingston Hospital where treatment for exposure was given and it was then the identity of the man was learned.

It is believed that Mr. Waterman who is advanced in years went for a walk and wandered into the country. How he came to get into the creek is not known but it is supposed that he became confused with the approach of night and attempted to take a short cut across the creek. The water is low in the creek and he might have attempted to walk across. At the point where the man was found there is deep clay of a soft and sticky nature and as he attempted to release himself from the sticky mass he sank deeper and deeper into the ooze until his body was practically covered. When discovered he had sunk down to his head and his face was covered with the mud. Had help not come as it did he undoubtedly would have been suffocated and disappeared from sight.

RUSSIAN PLANE AT SITKA AFTER BATTLE WITH FOG

Sitka, Alaska, Sept. 30 (AP).—The Russian monoplane Land of the Soviets was safe here today after fighting its way through heavy fog for the greater part of its 600-mile flight from Seward. A cheering throng greeted the four fliers at this historic city, capital of Alaska during Russian occupation.

The monoplane which is attempting a 12,000 mile flight from Moscow to New York, negotiated the Seward-Sitka leg of its night in seven hours and 34 minutes.

Fear was felt for the safety of the fliers yesterday afternoon, owing to misinterpretation of radio messages sent out while in flight. The messages, Chief Pilot S. A. Shestakov explained here, were merely information that they were about to change their course in an effort to dodge heavy fog banks.

They were interpreted, however, as SOS signals and preparations were made to send coast guard cutters to the aid of the supposedly falling plane before it was sighted passing Cape Spencer, less than 100 miles north of Sitka.

The Russians began preparations for refueling at once and announced they probably would take off for Seattle, approximately 700 miles distant, tomorrow.

Five Lives Lost at Nassau.

Nassau, Bahamas, Sept. 30 (AP).—(By radio)—A final check up of storm casualties on New Providence island this morning revealed five persons lost their lives in the tropical hurricane that raged for nearly 20 hours over the capital of the Bahamas beginning Wednesday. Property damage to the tourist hotels was not great and no storm of consequence is seen as a bar to the large tourist collect that winters here every season.

Mule Balks, Disastrous Results

Constantinople, Sept. 30 (AP).—(By radio)—In the province of Silivri a small Black Sea town, depended upon a mule to carry water for its fire department.

In a period of urgency, the mule balked today and so delayed the combat that a small blaze that it set up developed into a conflagration which destroyed 42 houses, 39 granaries and many cattle.

Pitcher Is Modest About His Heroism

Memphis, Tenn.—It takes more nerve, in the opinion of Robert Ruse, fourteen, "to stand up there and put 'em over the plate when the bases are loaded and nobody out" than to dive forty-three feet into a river and save a drowning companion.

Young Ruse, who is credited with diving from a bridge over the Tennessee river at Guntersville, Ala., recently to save Harry Smith, fifteen, is pitcher for a local playground team.

He had just finished pitching a game in which he struck out seven batters but lost, 6 to 5, when he reluctantly consented to being "interviewed."

"Aw, gee! I just jumped in and pulled him out," Robert said. He did not tell how he had jumped while several men looked on, that he himself was severely injured by striking a log in the dive, or that it took him twenty minutes to pull young Smith to the banks.

MODERN FURS ARE JUDGED BY THEIR EFFECTIVE RATHER THAN INTRINSIC VALUE

New York—The time has come when the matter of furs for the winter becomes something more than a general interest, it, in fact, becomes personal and perplexing. There is no longer recognizing many of the furs in which we are expected to be seen! There is also rather more than the usual variance of opinion as to which is the smartest, a matching or contrasting fur. The prejudice which exists concerning furs dyed ultra, and natural tones has passed and one no longer looks askance at bright reds on bright red fabrics or green and blue reflecting the hue of the cloth they trim.

With the reentry of the fur trimmed dress comes of course a more elastic use of furs, and consequently a broader conception of what is or is not effective. No one seems really to care very much about the intrinsic value. Fur-like costume is measured entirely by its effectiveness. Lapin answers, very much the same purpose as the aristocratic ermine, yet lapin is merely a rabbit's skin, as everyone knows. When the modern designer had done his best with a rabbit it is indeed worthy of the name, then providing a wrapping for Baby Bunting.

Flat furs, lapin and ermine among them are perhaps the happiest choice for a frock which at some time in a career must be worn under a coat. Each fur borders the neckline, or are made into intriguing bows placed at the shoulder or into narrow scarf or arrangements capable of several adjustments. There is of course the fur bordered dress, but this is more usually bordered in fox and worn for evening. The day dress has a less liberal use of fur.

Astrakhan was reported feverishly during the time of the Paris openings, and is living up to all expectations for it. One finds even the astrakhan coat, or jacket, and finds its plaid with a less trying fur. Astrakhan as a trimming for cloth coats is rated very high this fall there being a preference for brown astrakhan and black.

Beaver is another fur on which the smart world has set its eye. It is not only used on brown and green, but on black, red and the several violet and purple tones in vogue. Among the brown furs approved these days of fur costumes, must be mentioned brown dyed mole, and of course beige and cocoa caracul.

One of the most alluring possibilities of the new season is that of wearing a fur hat. They have a reputation for being extremely flattering, and a way of being extremely smart, or only such flat, pliable furs as velvix, for instance are used, besides which the fur is usually combined with felt or velvet, and handled after the manner of both. Such hats are shallow in the crown, reveal the brow, and protect the back of the neck or the ears from the wintry winds.

MANY ATTEND OUTING AT WILLIAMS' LAKES.

Binnewater, Sept. 28.—At the first annual outing of the Williams' Lakes Sportsmen's Club held last Sunday, a large number of persons were attracted to Binnewater, N. Y., where the lakes are located.

The swimming and field events held the interest of everybody from start to finish. After the meet everyone enjoyed a chicken dinner at the dance pavilion. The Finnish Band Orchestra of twenty pieces played to a large crowd Saturday night and Sunday afternoon.

The feature event of the day was the five and one half mile cross-country race held Sunday afternoon. John Holmy of New York finished practically in a dead heat. Holmy's chest, however, was just about 6 inches in front of his opponent's at the finish. Sam Hokkanen, of Quincy, Mass., starred in the 500 yards race. Five and one half mile cross-

New Vinegar Law Goes Into Effect

A law enacted at the last session of the legislature and effective October 1, provides for regulations on the sale of vinegar and requires labels which show whether the vinegar is made from clean, sound, fresh apples, parts of apples, or dried apples.

Commissioner Berns A. Pyke of the Department of Agriculture and Markets stated that manufacturers of vinegar and retailers should take cognizance of the requirements of the new law, and added that information on such requirements will be submitted to anyone requesting it.

For some years there has been considerable difference of opinion relative to the law regulating the sale of vinegar. Commissioner Pyke stated. At the last session a bill was worked out which was intended to meet the contentions of those who have been taking part in the controversy. It was held by those interested in the sale of vinegar made from apple cider produced from fresh apples that those manufacturing this commodity from evaporated apples should not be allowed to sell the product as apple vinegar or apple cider vinegar.

The new law covers this point by permitting the use of the term "cider vinegar" or "apple cider vinegar," and defining it as the product made exclusively from the expressed juice of clean, sound, fresh apples, or parts of such apples, by alcoholic and subsequent acetous fermentation without distillation.

The new law also provides for the use of the term "dried apple vinegar" to designate the product resulting from alcoholic and subsequent acetous fermentation without distillation of the juice produced from clean, sound, dried apples, clean, sound, dried chopped apples, clean, sound dried apple skins or cores, or clean, dried, sound pomace.

Provision is made in the law for the sale of other varieties, including sugar vinegar, malt vinegar, wine vinegar, glucose vinegar, and spirit vinegar. It is only in connection with the use of the designation for vinegars made from apples or apple products that any change has been made.

Every manufacturer or distributor is required under the new statute to plainly brand each barrel or other container with his name and place of business, the kind of vinegar contained therein, using the terms designated in the law, and the substance or substances from which it was made. The marking or branding as for cider vinegar or apple cider vinegar or dried apple vinegar of any package containing that which is not cider vinegar, apple cider vinegar, or dried apple vinegar as defined in the statute is prohibited.

Carload of Toys At R. & G. Store

Everything was feverishly exciting at the rear of Kingston's big store on Friday when an entire carload of toys was backed into the R. & G. siding and the unloading began. This is one of several carloads that are required to fill Santa Claus contracts with the youngsters of Kingston and Ulster county. The unusual situation of this big store in virtue of which it is able to eliminate the expense of carting and extra hauling is decidedly unique. There is no other department store in the state that has a railroad siding adjoining its main store building. Carloads are handled quickly and inexpensively making for savings all around.

Rat Strips Oatmeal

Stucco From House

Hastings, Neb.—This is the story of a rat who ate the stucco from a house. The house itself was rather unusual, both in its size—it was only eighteen inches high—and in its construction. It had been built by an Adams county child for exhibition at the fair as part of his health project for school work.

It was stuccoed with oatmeal, its windows were outlined with raisins, its front step was made of white beans, its chimney of red beans, and its roof of overlaid shingles made from apricots.

The idea was to show that if the house of health were built of such goods, it would be strong and sturdy. Whether the rat felt that its diet was lacking in health-giving foods or whether it was unusually hungry is a question, but today not a speck of the stucco remains and even some of the raisins show marks of the rodent's teeth.

Stomach Pains Were Almost Unbearable Declares This Lady

Also Suffered For Years From Kidney Disorders, Bilious Attacks, Constipation and Nervousness.

"For the past thirteen years, I have been in poor health and the discouraging part of it was, there just seemed to be no help for me," said Mrs. George Van Kleeck, Samsonville, N. Y., in a recent interview.

"The pains of indigestion through my stomach were at times almost unbearable. My kidneys were in a weakened condition. I'd get sick bilious attacks and I suffered from high blood pressure. I was a chronic victim to constipation and my nerves were all on edge and my entire system was so rundown that I felt tired and worn out all of the time."

"After I failed to get any relief from other medicines, I started using the Nu-Erb and since then I have been gradually improving until now, my former troubles have all been relieved. I scarcely ever have any indigestion. My kidneys are apparently stronger than they have been for many years and this splendid medicine has also relieved the biliousness, high blood pressure and strengthened my nerves so that I have practically no trouble in that way. My bowels are acting regularly and my entire system has improved in every way. I will always be glad to recommend this Nu-Erb to anybody because of what it has done for me."

Nu-Erb is the ideal system tonic and regulator. It corrects digestive disorders, strengthens weak kidneys, quiets the nerves, rouses a lazy liver to full action, relieves constipation and puts a stop to headaches, dizziness, biliousness, rheumatism and neuritis.

McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall St., is the headquarters in Kingston for Dr. French's Nu-Erb. Go see the Nu-Erb man now making his headquarters there and let him explain to you the merits of this remarkable medicine.

Home Service Fall Schedule

The first lesson in the fall schedule of the Home Service of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation will be presented by Elizabeth R. Plank, Home Service Director for this company, at 7:30 o'clock on Tuesday evening and 2:30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. The Home Service Room is now located on the second floor of the main office of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation at 611 Broadway. These meetings are open without charge to the women of local communities.

Food Preservation, the subject for the first home service meeting this fall, will cover dependable refrigeration for perishable supplies, including the placement of foods in the refrigerators for best results. It is a recognized fact that proper refrigeration is a constant temperature below 50 degrees F. necessary for adequate food protection all the year round and not only during warm weather.

Recipes will be given for ice cream, frozen puddings, refreshing beverages, frappes and unusual salads—all of which are becoming almost as welcome on the cool-weather menus as during summer days—and the preparation of these chilled delicacies will be demonstrated.

The fall schedule, which begins the week of September 30 through out the territory served by the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, will be continued until the week of December 9, with the following list of subjects:

Week of September 30—Food Preservation.
Week of October 7—Tempting Fruit Dishes.
Week of October 14—Halloween Novelties.
Week of October 21—An Apple a Day.
Week of October 28—The Magic Dinner.
Week of November 4—Cheese Combinations.
Week of November 11—Puddings and Pudding Sauces.
Week of November 18—Fancy Cakes and Cookies.
Week of December 2—Christmas Suggestions.
Week of December 9—Holiday Sweets.

There are three courses completed during each year, and a certificate is given at the end of each course to each one who attended regularly, while a souvenir is given at the end of three courses to each one having three certificates.

Initiated about five years ago, these classes have proved so popular that they are now held in fifteen communities: Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Kingston, Beacon, Wappingers Falls, Millerton, Freedom Plains, Red Hook, Catskill, Ravena, Saugerties, Coxsackie, Rosendale, New Paltz and Cornwall.

The home service directors in charge of this work are trained in the science of home economics and especially in the adaptation of gas and electricity to the needs of the home. Conducting these classes is, however, only one of the functions of the Home Service Bureau. The directors are ready to arrange special classes and meetings for organized groups of girls and women, and to work with local granges, churches, schools and other organizations. They are also glad to give individual help on home management problems on request and where necessary to make personal calls and give home demonstrations for customers of the company.

Seeks $15,000,000 in Hulk of Lost Vessel

New York.—The $15,000,000 gold bullion treasure in the sunken hulk of the liner Egypt off the coast of France will be the object of a determined salvage effort to be launched soon by Capt. Henry L. Bowdoin, veteran sea diver.

Captain Bowdoin announced that his attempt to raise the gold was backed by local capitalists, and $100,000 is said to have been spent on the project. The gold, which lies in 300 feet of water, has been sought by many treasure hunters, but the depth has prevented success.

The Egypt sank on May 30, 1922, 20 miles off the French coast.

Usher Park W. C. T. U.

The annual business meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of Miss Anne Terpening on Wednesday afternoon, October 3, at 2:30 o'clock. Officers and department superintendents will please bring a report of the year's work. All members are requested to be present.

MAKES HIS HOME IN DRY SUBMARINE

French Writer Has Built Weird Structure.

Paris.—Francis's literary life of the moment, Maurice Dekobra, makes his home in a submarine.

"You've got to do things like this if you want to get real color for your books," Dekobra declares. "Just now I'm working on a novel in which the big thrill occurs under the sea, wherefore my submarine."

Being original in all things, Dekobra has not troubled to go down to the sea to live in his submarine; he built one in his own home in Paris, thus creating the most novel residence in a city, where many seek the unusual and bizarre.

Dekobra's home is one of the grand mansions just off the boulevards. Outwardly it is one of these rare old relics of the thrilling times when aristocrats sheltered themselves from the mob behind high gates and weather-beaten gray walls, but once you enter the massive doors you find yourself in an atmosphere unrivaled, either in the past or present.

Traversing an echoing hall and descending broad stone stairs, you pass through a secret passage into the submarine. Jules Verne himself might have conceived and elaborated the astonishing chamber.

Expert Naval Construction. A button pressed on the outside steel paneled door causes the submarine to revolve, leaving it cut off from the outside world.

The author has had expert naval advice in the construction of his curious home. Everything in the submarine is an exact replica of a regular sea-going undersea craft in the French navy—periscopes, imitation engines, depth and range finders, steam gauge, starboard and port lights, torpedo tubes and steering devices. Open portholes reveal what appears to be ocean fishes, marine plants and the varied panoramas of the sea depths, all painted on canvas and illuminated by changing lights.

Most ingenious of all, by a cunning arrangement of the steering wheel Dekobra is able to turn out a cocktail for his guests each time he turns the wheel.

By another manipulation the canvas with its simulation of the ocean underworld slides gently past, giving the impression of a moving submarine.

Other Bizarre Rooms.

Often the author spends weeks in his submarine, sleeping, eating there and he rarely permits visitors, considering intruders are liable to disturb the even tenor of his literary thoughts. Sometimes, however, he seeks repose in one of the other marvelous chambers of his exciting home, in which he has similarly reconstructed scenes of many of his celebrated novels.

Thus he has a reproduction of a Pullman car, which represents his best-seller "L'Amazone des Sleepings," which means "The Madame of the Sleeping Car." There is every detail representing a European Pullman compartment.

He has another wonderfully arranged room to represent his book "The Phantom Gondola," which caused an international sensation a year or so ago because of the daring situations.

Dekobra is now having another surprising addition made to his wonder home—an Indian temple in which the decorations will consist principally of the trophies he has brought back from his recent tour of India on which he has written a book now on sale on the Paris bookstalls.

Engine "Knock" Was a Scared Mechanic

Chatham, Mass.—Police Chief Everett Edridge visited a local automobile salesman as a prospective customer.

"Take that car out for a spin and try it," suggested the salesman, pointing to a machine which was parked with motor running, in the yard.

Edridge hopped in and drove away. Shortly afterward he reappeared.

"I wouldn't buy a car that knocked the way this one does," he complained.

At this point, Leo Lobanc, grimy faced mechanic, crawled from beneath the automobile. It developed that he had been working under the car and, during the trial run, had moved himself from injury by holding himself suspended between the drip pan and an axle.

The "knocking" resulted when he rapped with a hammer in a frantic effort to warn the driver of his plight.

All Behave in County of 280,000 Population

Fresno, Calif.—Deputy Sheriff William Hulsey, Fresno county's jailer, said here that he wouldn't be surprised should the millennium prove to be just around the corner.

Deputy Hulsey's remark followed forty-eight hours without booking a new prisoner at the county jail. All Fresno city prisoners are also accommodated in the county facility.

Fresno has a population estimated to be about 50,000 and the county has approximately 280,000 persons.

You can depend on advertised products

ADVERTISING is the most powerful searchlight known to business. It focuses the attention of a community or a continent on a particular product. It gives that product the advantages of a widespread test by the buying public. But it cannot persuade that public to buy any article it has tested and found wanting. Manufacturers and merchants know this. They know also that advertising an unworthy product does only one thing: it brings magnified attention to its deficiencies. Therefore before they undertake extensive or consistent advertising, they make sure that their product is right.

Consistent advertising is your best assurance of value and worth. It is fair evidence that the advertiser is offering a good product which has been thoroughly tested and approved.

The advertisements in this newspaper have been passed by the highest authority—The buying public.

Through a Woman's Eyes

by Jean Newton

DOES IT GET YOU ANYWHERE?

A WELL-KNOWN educator, talking to the graduating class of one of our foremost universities, gave them, most probably in jest, some advice for getting on in life that is interesting chiefly for the foolish discussion it has brought forth all over the country.

"Be snobs, young men," said he. And for the gist of his program for a young man to get ahead in the world, he told them to stand aloof, to throw a bluff, to cultivate the right people, to make a play for the boss' daughter instead of his stenographer.

And people have been commenting and discussing and interviewed on the question of whether it is really better to be a snob and get ahead or not to be a snob and not get ahead. "What happiness," is one naive remark, "in marrying the boss' daughter if you don't love her?"

The assumption seems to be that it's sure to work—this being a snob. You're sure to get what you want—the boss' daughter can't fail to fall into your arms! The only question seems to be—will you be happy accepting all this good fortune just for being a snob?

And that's all bunk, of course. I suppose it has happened that someone has risen by hanging on to someone higher up—but it doesn't happen often. All other things being equal, good connections are usually a valuable asset. In their way they may be as valuable to a young man who has something really worthwhile to give, as that other asset, the necessity to make his own way. But good connections are rarely acquired by concentrating on them. They are rather a part of the recognition that comes to people who are trying to do something worth while, who are in work for the love of it rather than for where it is going to get them.

Don't assume this to be a preachment against being practical. Far from it. One must be practical. But the most impractical thing in the world is to try to get ahead by concentrating on that, by being a snob. The point is that in the first place it is bound to keep you from giving your best to the work that should get you ahead—and then people always see through it. If you look back you will come upon a recollection, as we all do, of someone who tried to cultivate "the right people," who always had an eye open for those who would be of use to him, for "getting in right"—someone who tried to get ahead by being a snob. And you will have a recollection of someone avoided and despised, someone doubtless who is still marking time on the same old treadmill of trying to "get in right."

Dear Editor:

I HAVE developed a delightful sentimentalism. I put on the brown suit and found 33 cents in the pockets. Then I dozed my white flannels and found $1.

If this keeps on I'll soon have money enough to retire on.

But sentimentalism has its faults. I sent a letter to Buffalo, Ohio—

yes, there is such a place. Also there's a Boston, Ohio, and a Vienna, Ohio.

But probably all three together wouldn't make one Loyal Oak or Park Center or Western Star.

When it comes to the size of towns, names don't mean much.—Fred Barton.

HOME MADE CANDY

TODAY with the value of candy appreciated for all ages, used as a food and a fatigue saver, it behooves the mother to brush up her knowledge of candy-making. Children love to make candy as much as ever. Pure candy is the only kind to give a child and the home is an economical place to prepare it.

One will find it a very useful thing to be able to make two or three kinds of candy extremely well. Practice makes perfect. When asked to make something for a church sale or fair, this candy-making ability will come into action. There is always a vigorous demand for home-made candy everywhere, at all times and places. The following are easy to make and always enjoyed:

Nougat.

Soften four tablespoonsful of granulated gelatin in a cupful of cold water for five minutes, then add a teaspoonful of corn syrup and one cupful of sugar. Place over the heat and boil for eight minutes, stirring constantly. Beat the white of an egg and slowly pour over the gelatin mixture, heating all the while as it makes boiled frosting. Add a teaspoonful of lemon extract, one-third of a cupful of blanched almonds and one-third of a cupful of candied cherries and pistachio nuts chopped. Mix confectioner's sugar—a third of a teaspoonful and the same of cornstarch, sprinkle in a flat pan and pour in the mixture. When firm cut into squares or bars and wrap in waxed paper.

Chocolate Caramels.

Take one cupful of molasses, one cupful of brown sugar, one-half cupful of rich milk, one-quarter cupful of butter, one teaspoonful of vanilla and one-fourth pound of bitter chocolate.

Put the molasses, sugar, milk and butter over the fire and stir constantly until it thickens. Have ready the chocolate melted over steam, add it and cook until a bit dropped in cold water will snap. Add the vanilla, stir until well mixed, then pour into shallow pans to cool. When quite cold mark off into squares with a long strong knife and cut into one-half inch squares. Wrap in paper.

Tagging Major League Bases

BY WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The final seven days of the baseball season will hold interest chiefly for the various individual exploits being accomplished or attempted and for the battle between Brooklyn and Philadelphia for the top of the National League's second division. After winning seven straight games which carried them into fifth place ahead of the Robins, the Phillies fell back into a tie for the position by losing to the Giants by 4 to 2 yesterday as the Flatbush Rock shaded Boston by 3 to 2.

The Giant victory made it seven straight for Bill Walker, young southpaw who came to the club two years ago from Denver. A double, a triple and a homer by Ed Roush, who drove in three runs, and a pair of singles by Eddie Marshall, the Bridgeport recruit, defeated Claude Willoughby and returned Walker a victor.

Melvin Ott and Chuck Klein brought their home run race into the Polo Grounds for the last time this season, but both failed to scale the right field wall. They are tied with forty-two apiece. By getting two hits in four times at bat, Frank O'Doul not only strengthened his claim to the National League batting title, but also approached to within two of Rogers Hornsby's record of 250 hits, made in 1922. George Sisler holds the major league mark with 257, made in 1920.

Johnny Morrison, recent victim of many one-inning defeats, got credit for Brooklyn's ninth-inning rally against Percy Lee Jones after Ray Moss had tolled for eight rounds.

Rogers Hornsby's thirty-ninth home run not only placed him in a tie with his teammate, Hack Wilson, for third place in the National League derby, but also enabled the Champion Cubs to shade Ben Froy, Cincinnati recruit from Nashville, by a score of 1 to 0. Cold weather held the attendance to 12,000.

The Pirates divided two in St. Louis, winning the opener by 5 to 1 and dropping the nightcap by 10 to 2. The Pirates still could lose second place—but only by dropping all their games.

In the American League, the tall-end Red Sox slammed the Champion Mackmen for a 10 to 0 victory, the Messers, Grove, Yerkes and Rommel officiating. The Red Sox got to Grove for eight earned runs in five innings, which will do Mr. Grove's official average no good.

George Pipgras and Wesley Ferrell selected the same day to share honors with two-hit games. Pipgras pitched the Yankees to a 3 to 0 victory over Washington, winning his eighteenth, and Ferrell turned back the Browns by 4 to 0 in Cleveland. The victory practically clinched third place for the Indians. Lou Gehrig hit his thirty-fifth homer in the Washington game.

Detroit outslugged the White Sox to win a wild game by 9 to 3 in eleven innings. Gehring and Stone aided the Bengals with homers.

Child Labor in Factories

Twenty-five years ago only seven states attempted to keep children under fourteen out of factories. Today every state has some kind of fourteen-year limit and in thirty-nine states no child can legally work in any factory under any circumstances until his fourteenth birthday. Only five states prohibited night work by children under sixteen; thirty-one states have joined the honor roll today; thirty-six states instead of two maintain an eight-hour day for children under sixteen. These facts are highly significant in view of the fact that the National Child Labor committee is about to celebrate its quarter-century anniversary, says the Birmingham News. It was this committee that started the good work and it is this same committee still, though its personnel has been considerably changed through the flight of years, that is fighting still for the underprivileged child, fighting in one by one the gaps in the state laws and seeing that laws on the statute books are actually enforced.

Ott's Slugging, Zachary's Hurling Feature Drive On Baseball Records

These baseball celebrities are helping themselves to some new records this year. Hornsby and Frederick surpassed National League marks. Ott tied that league's home run mark for one season and Zachary appeared certain to become the first major leaguer to pitch a full season without defeat.

All-Stars Defeat Pan-Ams and Rondouts

The Kingston All-Stars defeated the Pan-Ams, 7-3, Sunday afternoon at the Kingston Fair Grounds, bringing to a halt the winning streak of the oilmen who took two previous contests in the five-game series being staged by the teams. It was the second win over the week-end for the All-Stars who downed the Rondouts A. C. 10-6 Saturday afternoon at the Athletic Field. The game opened a series between the clubs.

Paul Joyce pitched the All-Stars to victory over the Rondouts Saturday, opposing Les Caunitz on the mound. Joyce was a little wild in the opening inning but after that he settled down and the Rondouts could not solve his brand. Caunitz pitched hitless ball until the fourth. During the rest of the game he was found for plenty of base hits.

Johnny Celuch started the tossing for the Pan-Ams Sunday and lasted until the eighth when he surrendered his task to Walt Black. Ken Best tossed 'em over for the All-Stars in fine fashion. He fanned several oilmen at intervals in the game when they had men on bases and could have done something with the aid of a hit.

Merritt, Joyce and Knight, the latter of the Pan-Ams, came through with home runs.

The next game of the Pan-Ams vs. All-Stars series will be played Sunday, October 6, at the Saugerties road diamond, home grounds of the Pan-Ams.

Bush Says Cubs Can Be Stopped

Philadelphia, Sept. 30 (AP).—Chicago's devastating hitters can be stopped in the world series with the Athletics, in the opinion of "Bullet Joe" Bush, if the Mack-hurlers "pitch to them on the inside."

Bush, home after a season with the International League, is a former Athletic pitcher, with 16 years' experience in the American League and one in the National.

"If Connie's pitchers keep the ball on the inside, they'll give the Cub slingers the heebie jeebies," he predicted. "Cuyler, Hornsby, Wilson and Stephenson hit a ball that is well out on their bats. Keep the ball up around their hands on the inside and you have them stopped. They don't pound that kind of pitching."

Bush is not one of those who think the A's leading left-handers, Grove and Walberg, would be soft picking for the Cubs' right-hand batters who are said to be poison to left-handers.

"If Grove were in and started buzzing the ball across the handles of their bats, he'd have the Cubs crazy," he said. "They never faced a pair of lefties like Moss and Rube. Earnshaw will give the Cubs trouble, too. He's a wise pitcher and nobody is going to make a monkey out of him. If Ekhme is right for a game he should make Chicago miserable with sidarm stuff. They hate sidarmers, especially Kiki Cuyler."

"Of the Cubs' staff, Pat Malone will be hard to hit. He has lots of speed, more, I think, than anyone in the A's have faced this year. I think he may beat them. The rest of the Cub pitchers shouldn't be so hard. Buy Bush and Root are good, but I wouldn't pick them to beat the Athletics."

No Boxing Show Here This Week

There will be no boxing bouts at the armory this week, Captain Lawson, athletic officer of the 156th Field Artillery, having called off all pugilistic proceedings until Friday night, October 11.

The captain is hot on the trail of Jimmy Ambrose, National Guard matchmaker, for the Zinna-Matinsky match. He expects he will get it and that the go will be a 10-rounder. The number of frames, however, is in question because Matinsky's manager does not care to see Harry matched for ten rounds with the Kingston boy. He does not mind eight, so maybe the scrap will be set for that limit.

If the match is made for eight rounds, the semi-final will be for the same number. Lawson plans on bringing two heavyweights together in the mill as there are plenty of big boys in the Guard row. Whether any of them will develop into suitable opponents for "Big" Bill Freeman, who now holds the championship in the class, will be found out through the course of the winter season.

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould,
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

It is one of the rarest coincidences in baseball that the three stalwarts who played so conspicuously a hand in the last four National League triumphs in the world's series all are on the battlefield for the Cubs in the October's classic.

Art Nehf, the only seasoned portside on the Chicago staff, helped southpaw the Yankees into submission in 1921 and 1922 when he was the ace of John McGraw's staff. Art, in fact, holds a record for scoring at least one victory in each of four championship battles in a row, when the Giants enjoyed their big streak of 1921-24.

Kiki Cuyler dealt the blow for the Pirates that beat Walter Johnson and the Washington Senators in the misty final game of 1925 at Forbes Field.

A year later, Rogers Hornsby piloted the Cardinals to an uphill victory over the Yankees, aided by the great twirling of Old Pete Alexander, as the National league indulged in its last cheer.

If it wasn't for the evidence, it would seem that the partisans of the senior circuit, in a desperate mood, had recalled these three heroes of other battles to rally the National colors and do something to wipe out the sting of the routs of 1927-28. At any rate, whatever moral or muscular aid these three can provide is at the command of the Cubs. Nehf may not see much action but Cuyler and Hornsby are two of the big guns aimed at the Athletics, two veterans whose experience looms as a vital factor.

The dark-haired, square-shouldered Cuyler has had a great year, his greatest since the campaign of 1925 that ended with him a world's series hero. The one-time Michigan recruit was a bench-warmer in the series of 1927, after a row with the Dreyfuss forces, his play suffering that year as well as the next. His first with the Cubs, but he has put on a fine come-back for 1929. The fleet outfielder hit over .350 most of the season, close to his best mark of .357, and stole around 40 bases to demonstrate that he has lost none of his speed. His best figure in thefts was 41 in 1925.

Harry Heilmann's unique streak of odd-year leadership in American league batting ranks has finally been broken. The genial Detroit outfielder and insurance broker began his freak achievement in 1921, repeating as batting king in 1923, 1925 and 1927 as he notched averages of .292, .403, .393 and .398. Starting a late-season rally this year, Heilmann made a fight for his odd-year crown, pulling up to around .350 but this was not enough to catch such sluggers as Al Simmons, Jimmy Fox, Heale Maush and Lew Fosse.

Eight Straight for Generals

The Generals of Lake Katrine won their eighth straight victory Sunday by defeating the Stone Ridge team at that place. This was the third win over the Stone Ridge team in as many games. Dewey Van Buren, who pitched for the Generals, held the losers to six scattered hits which netted them only one run. Guy Meyers, H. Staube and Dewey Van Buren starred with the bat for the Generals. The game was called at the end of the fifth inning because of a heavy shower.

Last Outdoor Show

The outdoor boxing season at Woodchiff Park will close Tuesday night with Joe Tinsley of Peekskill and Jimmy Sullivan of Florida fighting the 10-round feature bout.

Great Buddhist Festival

One of the most important of the Buddhist festivals is that called the "Festival of the Dead." It commences in the middle of July.

Football Season HAS OPENED AGAIN

Great American Intercollegiate Sport Is Here.

Football, that great intercollegiate sport, has come back this fall bolder than ever. Enthusiasm is not lacking in any section according to reports. Practice has started at all major universities, about the same time as in previous years.

When the Big Ten squads reported they were guided by eight men who coached last year. There have been only two radical changes in the coaching staff. Harry Kipke, one of the greatest backs in Michigan's football history, will direct the Maine and Blue eleven. He succeeds Ted Wadman, a former Michigan player who became head coach when Fielding H. Yost decided to devote his time to the athletic directorship.

Aside from the appointments of Kipke as head coach at Michigan and Williams at Ohio State, the only other important change in coaching staffs of major institutions is at Nebraska. Dana Bible, who learned his football at Carson Newman university and who has coached for years in the South, will be in charge of football at the Cornhusker institution.

The season will be featured by attractive intercollegiate contests. Among these will be Army and Illinois at Champaign on November 9, Harvard at Michigan on the same date; Carnegie Tech at Southern California December 14; Army at Stanford December 25; Notre Dame and Army at New York November 30, and Vanderbilt and Minnesota at Minneapolis October 12. Colgate will clash with Indiana at Bloomington October 13 and Mississippi will come up from the South to play Purdue at Lafayette November 8.

No Change in Rules

Officials who will handle Western conference football games this fall held their annual meeting at Chicago, to reach uniform interpretations of the playing rules.

Maj. John L. Griffith, athletic commissioner of the Western conference, presided. Several prominent officials talked on the various penalties and the reasons for them. In general, however, all concurred that this year's rules are specific and need little interpretation.

The forward pass was discussed, also the five and fifteen yard penalties. It was agreed that officials signal the score board keeper the reasons for various penalties. The code will be determined by Major Griffith and announced before the first games.

Dana X. Bible, new head football coach at the University of Nebraska and a member of the national football rules committee which last winter made the new regulations ruling a fumbled ball dead at the point of recovery, explained the rule and defended himself and the committee in a meeting at Kansas City.

For the seventh time William T. Tilden II has won the national singles tennis championship, defeating Francis T. Hunter. The match was played at Forest Hills.

Comiskey to Rebuild

Charles A. Comiskey, seventy-year-old owner of the White Sox, has informed his associates that he intends to rebuild his team himself. In other words, the veteran baseball magnate will return from his summer home in Eagle River, Wis., shortly and immediately plunge into the business of giving south side fans something to cheer about next season.

Two cussies who made their reputation in the last generation will endeavor to stage a comeback this winter and have announced their intention of entering the world's championship 18-2 ball tournaments against the younger stars.

Willie Hoppe, who captured the 18-2 billiard title in 1911 and held it with the single exception of the year 1921, until the 1924 tournament, will be seen in action again this season.

George Butler Sutton is the other old-timer who will meet the modern exponents of the game this winter.

"The Iron Man" is the most coveted trophy in the American battle fleet. The U. S. S. Tennessee now is in possession of the prize, which is a reward for prowess in all sports.

The New York Giants announced the purchase of the contract of Herman Pruett, left-handed pitcher, from Newark of the International league. Pruett formerly pitched for St. Louis in the American league and Philadelphia in the National. He became noted early in his career with the Browns as a nemesis of Babe Ruth.

More Tune-up Grid Contests

New York, Sept. 30 (AP).—One game under its collective hat, the football east looks toward another Saturday of tune-up contests before plunging into the thick of traditional rivalries or intercollegiate fray.

There are two exceptions to this general rule in the University of Pittsburgh and Colgate both of whom travel to alien fields for their football fun this coming Saturday. The Panthers, victors by 52-0 over Wayneburg last Saturday, meet Duke at Durham, N. C., while Colgate, which swamped St. Lawrence in its first game, travels to Madison for an important struggle with Wisconsin.

For the rest practice games will be the order of the day. The one-time "Big Three", Yale, Harvard and Princeton, as well as Lafayette, will inaugurate their seasons but it will be the second or third game of the season for all the others. Harvard meets Bates in its first game, Yale tackles with Vermont, Princeton faces Amherst and Lafayette meets it start against Muhlenberg which went down before the Leopards 54-0 last year.

Pennsylvania, hard put to eke out a 14-7 triumph over Franklin and Marshall, meets Swarthmore next, while Penn State, undefeated with its 15-0 win over Niagara, will try to work up a bigger score on Lebanon Valley. Niagara will be the next trial horse for Gil Dobie's Cornell squad which surprised the boys with a huge 60-0 court over Clarkson. Dartmouth, which used only two forward passes in crushing Norwich, 59-0, probably will elect to stick to straight football tactics. Columbia, easily victorious over Middlebury, expects no more trouble from Union. Syracuse, which rolled up 77 points on Hobart, meets St. Lawrence.

The Army and Navy, easy winners over Boston University and Denison respectively, will tangle next with Gettysburg and William and Mary.

New York University, which tied Syracuse for high scoring honors last Saturday, expects a little more opposition from West Virginia Wesleyan. Fredham meets St. Bonaventure and Rutgers anticipates little trouble from Delaware.

Brown, rolled by Springfield, 7-0, meets a state rival in Rhode Island, and Boston College, extended by Catholic University, hopes to get its line operating on all six before engaging Maine. Holy Cross will be pitted against Providence, Wesleyan, meeting the Connecticut Argles, appears due for another beating to match the one the Middletown boys took at Rochester's hands Saturday. Williams meets Middlebury.

In the western Pennsylvania sector, Washington and Jefferson take on another intercollegiate foe in Ashland. Carnegie Tech plays Thiel and West Virginia, beaten last Saturday by Davis and Elkins, takes on Duquesne.

Dog May Aid in Capturing Killer

New York, Sept. 29 (AP).—A small dog was held by police today in the hope it would aid in the identification of a poacher being sought as the slayer of a game warden.

William T. Cramer, a state game warden, was shot and killed yesterday when he sought to arrest a man found shooting robins in a thicket near Jamaica, Queens. The assassin escaped after disarming and beating Joseph A. Allen, another warden. A police posse beating through the brush in search of the slayer found the dog. It was taken to the police station as a possible means of identifying the slayer should he be brought in. Police believed the dog would greet its owner in some way.

Cramer was shot without warning when he and Allen approached the poacher with Joseph Lentine, another hunter they had arrested. Lentine escaped when Allen was attacked.

MODENA.

Modena, Sept. 30.—The Modena unit of the Ulster County Home Bureau held a rally at Modena Lake Tuesday of the past week. Mrs. Joseph E. Hasbrouck, Jr., presiding. A splendid social time and a sumptuous repast were enjoyed by those in attendance, who were: Mrs. Frank Black, chairman; Mrs. Christian Mathieson, vice chairman; Mrs. Ira Hyatt, secretary; Mrs. Ward Black, assistant secretary; Mrs. Floyd Wells, Mrs. Edward Harcourt, Mrs. Emma Palmer, Mrs. George Dusiaberre, Mrs. Albert Terwilliger, Mrs. George Eckert and son, Norman, Doris Black, Miss Althea, Mrs. Lillian Sicker, Mrs. Irene Hyatt, Mrs. Wilfred Van Iderstine, Mrs. Myron Shultis, Mrs. Orville Seymour, Mrs. O'Neil, Miss Plank, Miss Nance and the hostess, Mrs. Hasbrouck. Miss Nance, Home Bureau manager, and Miss Plank, of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, discussed the subjects of the local organization and the possibilities of the local organization and the courses which will be used during the coming year. Miss Plank spoke on the food preservation. She presented Mrs. Hasbrouck, the hostess, with a thermometer. Plans were made to hold a box social of the old fashioned order at the home of Mrs. Christian Mathieson Wednesday evening, October 16. Each lady is requested to bring a lunch sufficient for two, each box priced fifty cents. This will be for the benefit of the Modena Home Bureau.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Patridge, Mr. and Mrs. Rula Ward, Harry Patridge, Wyant Courtier attended the Grahamsville Fair Wednesday last.

Modena folks are planning to attend the annual fair at Danbury, Conn., scheduled to commence Monday, October 7, and end October 12.

A Republican caucus was held at Hasbrouck's Memorial Hall Tuesday evening for the purpose of nominating candidates for town offices. A similar caucus will be held by the Democrats.

Reservations for Valley Dinner

Interest increases as the time approaches for the big "get together" dinner to be held by the Rondout Valley Chamber of Commerce at the Governor Clinton Hotel Tuesday evening. Expectation is that it will be one of the most notable gatherings of the kind held here in years and it will not be surprising if the resources of even the Governor Clinton are taxed to their limit to accommodate the crowd.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—Liquidation of stocks was resumed on a broad scale in today's stock market after another unsuccessful attempt to bring about a general rally in the early trading. Scores of issues broke 2 to 19 points and Auburn Auto broke 38 to 49, or just 114 points below the recent high. Trading was fairly heavy.

Call money advanced from 5 to 10 per cent as banks called loans in preparation for month-end settlements. The average renewal rate for call money in September was 5.52 per cent, as against 8.13 per cent in August and 7.25 per cent in September, 1928. Time money held firm at 5 to 5 1/2 per cent.

Renewal of selling pressure against United States Steel Common occurred in down nearly 4 points to a new low on the current decline at 22 1/2, which contrasts with a record high of 36 1/2, earlier in the month. Commercial Solvents dropped 3 1/2 points and United States Industrial Alcohol, Atlas Powder, Pacific Lighting, A. M. Byers, General Electric, Johns Manville, and American Water Works dropped 7 to 10 points.

Marmot Motors broke 6 points to a new low for the year at 45. Extreme declines of 4 points or more were registered by Consolidated Gas, Allied Chemical, American Can, Union Carbide, International Telephone and Simmons Company.

National Biscuit and Eastman Kodak recorded early gains of 5 1/2 and 4 1/2 points, respectively, but they were wiped out in the midday selling movement. No explanation was forthcoming for the early advance of 10 1/2 points in Pierce Oil preferred, on which no dividends have been paid since January 1, 1922 making an accumulation of nearly $60 in back dividends. Earnings of the company have been running about 50 per cent ahead of last year.

Many of the coats which appear in solid colors are in dark shades, trimmed with very light furs. Furs, indeed, are being used to an extent that should have an eventual effect on the game laws, and your chances for picking up a coat for a song or two are radically reduced. The Paquin convertible shawl collar manages to combine many pelts of the smaller animals and will be so popular as to send the prices of a whole division of the coats soaring. Little fur, however, will be used for heavy borders or for those deep cuffs which rule out all possibility of the wearer's driving her own car.

All colors are seen, of course. The belief that some colors go definitely out of style is largely a delusion. Bright navy, particularly when used in combination with black fur, promises well; green with brown fur will be very much worn, and bright clear red, particularly with black fur and accessories, will be a good fashion of which young women with limited incomes should be very wary; the effect on one's nature of wearing a red coat every day a whole season would probably be of interest to the Freudians.

One of the interesting brightly-colored coats is of green leda cloth with a shawl collar of Hudson seal and cuffs of the fur which are set on several inches above the edge. This coat is distinguished by a very impudent little bow of the cloth which appears in the front at the point where the collar crosses when it is worn open.

For the woman with sedate tastes, black is still considered a very chic choice for afternoon coats. One smart model is of broadcloth with black Persian lamb making a narrow tuxedo collar and forming the entire wrap-around skirt—a fancy which you may invest in with the full assurance that it will never be copied, since Persian lamb runs into big money.

For the woman with sedate tastes, black is still considered a very chic choice for afternoon coats. One smart model is of broadcloth with black Persian lamb making a narrow tuxedo collar and forming the entire wrap-around skirt—a fancy which you may invest in with the full assurance that it will never be copied, since Persian lamb runs into big money.

But Few Do "Never too late to learn," said Public Symp. Mr. Sours knew it all—this that matters.

Furs Being Used on Autumn Coats

Heavy Borders, Deep Cuffs Now Prominent; Many Colors Shown.

This season the formal coat will figure more prominently in the daytime mode than it has for years and should logically be chosen before any other part of the costume, including the Scandinavian gloves, observes a fashion writer in the New York World.

Since the shops are perfectly well aware of this situation they are bringing over many more coats at this season than dresses or accessories and you may find many of the Paris creations represented in your favorite store.

Quite a large number of the coats are long, even judged by the standards of this season, and will cover the dress completely by means of a low, even hemline. There are some straight-line coats made in the wrap-around manner, as well as many more formal models made on high-waisted lines and trimmed with any one of the short, curly furs like krummer and caracul.

Besides broadcloth and other dull fabrics, a great number of tweeds are being shown and the use of this fabric for coats that will be worn with quite formal afternoon dresses of silk is one of those tendencies that is worth mention.

One extremely interesting model of a Rodier black and white tweed is fitted to the figure by means of ingenious diagonal seamings and has as its 3-le trimming, a white galyk collar; the ends are pointed and one passes through a buttonhole in the other to make an irregular version of the butterfly bow.

Another interesting tweed of the ostrich flock category has deep cuffs of ombre Persian lamb and a tuxedo fur collar of the sort that goes extravagantly down to the hem.

Coats in Dark Shades.

Many of the coats which appear in solid colors are in dark shades, trimmed with very light furs. Furs, indeed, are being used to an extent that should have an eventual effect on the game laws, and your chances for picking up a coat for a song or two are radically reduced. The Paquin convertible shawl collar manages to combine many pelts of the smaller animals and will be so popular as to send the prices of a whole division of the coats soaring. Little fur, however, will be used for heavy borders or for those deep cuffs which rule out all possibility of the wearer's driving her own car.

All colors are seen, of course. The belief that some colors go definitely out of style is largely a delusion. Bright navy, particularly when used in combination with black fur, promises well; green with brown fur will be very much worn, and bright clear red, particularly with black fur and accessories, will be a good fashion of which young women with limited incomes should be very wary; the effect on one's nature of wearing a red coat every day a whole season would probably be of interest to the Freudians.

One of the interesting brightly-colored coats is of green leda cloth with a shawl collar of Hudson seal and cuffs of the fur which are set on several inches above the edge. This coat is distinguished by a very impudent little bow of the cloth which appears in the front at the point where the collar crosses when it is worn open.

For the woman with sedate tastes, black is still considered a very chic choice for afternoon coats. One smart model is of broadcloth with black Persian lamb making a narrow tuxedo collar and forming the entire wrap-around skirt—a fancy which you may invest in with the full assurance that it will never be copied, since Persian lamb runs into big money.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)
New York.—Henry Ford predicts the disappearance of women from industry. In the Pictorial Review he says they don't want to think much; they prefer to take orders; they are not precise.

Washington.—Mabel Walker Willebrandt wants no sex distinctions. In a radio address she urged business and professional women to insist on "no particular favors to the fair." The fame of Betty Green and Mimi Curie were due more to their sex than their achievements, she complained.

New York.—Communicants of "humanism," a new religion, will be encouraged to compose their own wedding services. In launching the religion the Rev. Dr. Charles Francis Potter, formerly a Universalist pastor, announced there would be no clergy, no prayers, no baptism, and lectures instead of sermons.

Northampton, Mass.—Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge have entered an airplane for the first time. The plane sat on the ground all the time the Coolidges sat in the plane. The former President did not choose to fly himself or to have Mrs. Coolidge do so. The father of his new daughter-in-law is a flying governor.

London.—George Price has lifted a shadow that hung over the motion picture industry. His arthritic appendages were abnormally elongated and emphasized by Kleig lights. Gum and adhesive tape couldn't keep them from waving in the breeze. A plastic surgeon came to the rescue. The new ears passed a screen test.

Toronto.—Paterson, N. J., is the home town of the three best typists in the world. George Hossfeld became world's champion for the second time with an average of 155 words a minute. Albert Tangora was second and Barney Stapert took third place.

New York.—A famous angler who defied Calvin Coolidge against the onslaughts of fly casters is to become an American citizen at the age of 70. Frederick George Shaw, British subject, formerly was international fly casting champion. When he was young, he wrote a book entitled, "The Pseudomorph Theory of the Wiltwaters and Conglomerates."

Mexico City.—Events in a canyon at Agua Blanca, State of Hidalgo, will date hereafter from the day when two great white birds dropped in on the Indian inhabitants. Colonel Roberto Fierro made a forced landing there while racing from Mexico City to Kansas City. When Captain Daniels arrived to help him restart the motor he found the Indians parading around the canyon. Sight of the planes gave them a great thrill, but they couldn't be persuaded to twirl the propellers.

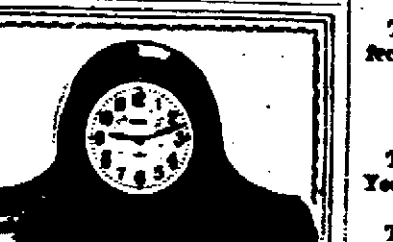

New York.—During the last year, 111,000 automobiles worth $31,200,000 were stolen. Above 85 per cent were recovered. The figures are from insurance circles.

Naval Academy Dome Is Being Repaired

Annapolis, Md.—The dome of the Naval academy chapel, long termed affectionately "the wedding cake" by Annapolitans, is undergoing repairs. Several cornices and pieces of masonry that fell from the top recently made the work more urgent. The "ginger bread" work on the dome will be removed, according to the contractors, and paneled copper will be substituted. All of the cornices corresponding to those that have fallen will be removed. The granite work will be repointed and gold plate will be used at the peak of the building. Much bronze will be used in the renovations that will require five months to complete. Electric lights will illuminate the highest point of the dome.

"Impossible" Peak in Ecuador Is Climbed

Guayaquil, Ecuador.—The California Technical Institute's expedition, headed by Prof. Robert Moore, has succeeded in climbing to the top of Mt. Sangay, 17,433 feet. Photographs of the crater and rare fauna growing on the inner side were successfully made. So difficult was the ascent that 30 days were required to reach the top, the expedition being forced to overcome many obstacles such as inclement weather and desertion of their native Indian guides. The British explorer, George Dyott, once declared that ascent of Mt. Sangay was impossible.

HOMES OF STATESMEN

What statesmen do to amuse themselves:
President Hoover, of course, fishes.
Vice President Curtis goes to horse races.
Senator George Norris of Nebraska reads Dickens.
Secretary Stimson plays tennis and rides horseback.
Owen D. Young's diversions are forestry and first editions.
Charles F. Hughes is a devotee of walking and foreign travel.
Andrew Mellon collects paintings and communes with fine literature.
Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, is fond of Latin, Greek and music.

Charles G. Dawes, ambassador to the Court of St. James, composes melodies that are good enough to broadcast.

Chief Justice Taft is an ardent golfer at heart, although he plays no more. His summer home at Murray Bay, Conn., is a veritable library of biographies.

WISE WHISPERS

Imitations are seldom valuable; be yourself.

What is thy duty? The demand of the present hour.—Goethe.

Rebuke backbiters and encourage them not by hearkening to their tales.—Richard Baxter.

Be less ashamed to confess thy ignorance than, by holding a foolish argument, to betray it.—Eliz. Joceline.

The church began its working life on the day on which one young man said to another, "Come and see."—Charles E. Jefferson.

Who is a wise man and endowed with knowledge among you? Let him show out of a good conversation his works with meekness of wisdom.—St. James.

The greatest miracle that I know of is my conscience. And if God has been able to work that one, there are none of which He is not capable.—Vinet.

Finish every day and be done with it. You have done what you could. Some blunders and absurdities no doubt crept in; forget them as soon as you can.—Emerson.

QUIPS

If a man isn't handsome, he concentrates on looking "distinguished."

Nobody is perfect; but what is more important, nobody wants to be made so.

It is all right to be born a gentleman if you don't forget your obligations.

Man always liked to stuff his trousers in his boots; and now he gets leather puttees.

People hardly ever remember the best things you say—usually, something second rate.

Perhaps it is deader to look forward to one broken-hearted friend at your funeral, than a crush of automobiles.

City folks have to learn that opening the window of the bedroom to let in a lot of smoke-filled air isn't particularly healthy.
